SUBJECT: The 2007 International Rhythmic Gymnastics Tournament.

WHERE: Veterans Memorial Auditorium, 4117 Overland Avenue, Culver City, CA 90230 USA

WHO: Rhythmic Gymnasts and the top ten worldwide are invited to compete with the best in the world! There is always large field from North America but the growing popularity of young competitors from around the world has put this tournament up for grabs. Last year Olympic Medalist from Belarus Inna Jhukova swept the senior division in the CORUM sponsored All-Around event winning a $5,000.00 Corum USA Diamond Watch.

WHEN: Friday, January 19-Sunday, January 21, 2007

WHAT: Largest Rhythmic Gymnastics Tournament in America featuring the globe's best athletes competing for gold! Dazzling, flying and throwing are all part of this family venue where athletes from Mexico, Australia, Germany, New Zealand, Japan, Hungary, Canada, United States, Belarus, Ukraine, Russia, Israel, Brazil and more compete to win the Grand Prize!

BACKGROUND – FACTS

The creator of the event, Alla Svirsky, the country's leading expert of Gymnastics and has brought the sport of Rhythmic Gymnastics to the United States through the 1984 Olympic Games as a coach and pioneer. She wished to repay her success as an Inductee to the USA Gymnastics Hall of Fame and has been the guiding light for this tournament, which has grown in stature worldwide. More than 350 athletes compete with over 1,500 spectators rooting for their favorite team from 14 countries.

Because of its organization, and the lure of Southern California, youngsters from Argentina to the Ukraine come to Culver City for America's largest gymnastics competition! There is enough to see and do for the many fans of the sport that come to cheer their favorites, be it family member, club affiliation or nationality. But it's serious business for these much focused young women, though there is news that Japan will send all men's team for the second year in a row and much to the delight of the new fans that convened last year at the same venue. The tournament, over the course of 3 days will have all the customary "Ooohs" and "Aaahs", resounding applause and claps of appreciation.

Tickets are at a premium due to the growing number of fans that fill the competition venue.
